FIGHT IN PLATTE COUNTY.

St. Louis, Sept. 17th .- The Democrat's Leavenworth special despatch says:
After the adjournment of the Platte coun ty (Mo.) radical convention on Saturday, a drunken Union soldier named Donnegar made some noise on the street, and flourished a pistol about considerably.

Sheriff Ogden took his pistol away, and told him to keep quiet, which he did. A short time afterward a returned rebel named Callahan, and officer Marshal, with a posse of ten men, demanded the surrender of Donnegan, and a scuffle ensued, and pistols were freely used, resulting in the death of three or four and the wounding of eight or ten men.

A number of delegates who had started home hearing the firing returned to town and were fired upon by the Callahan party and several of their horses were killed under

Callahan fired twice at one delegate who was lying under his wounded horse, and was fired on in return and killed. The latest accounts say that several hundred armed rebels hold Platte City and have driven all Union men out of town. They swear they shall not return. Great excitement exists. Governor Fletcher has been applied to for force to put down the mob. All accounts agree that Donnegan was unarmed when Callahan and party attacked him GENERAL JOHN M. PALMER.-It is now announced that Gen. John M. Palmer, of this State, after months of solicitation, has at last secured the acceptance of his resignation, and retires to private life. We believe he contemplates taking up his residence hereafter at the State capital.

The career of General Palmer ever since the organization of the Republican party, and his distinguished services during the war, are a sufficient guarantee of his present position on the great issues now before the country. While in command in Kentucky, General Palmer boldly faced the rebel power, and it was due to his efforts, rather than to all other influences combined, that that power was so long prevented from overwhelming the loyal men of that State .-Since his return from North-Carolina, where he was assigned to special duty, he has expressed his opinion in reference to the practical results of the President's policy in no ambiguous terms. His thorough acquaintance with the effects of that policy will enable him to speak to the people with effect, and we are glad to learn that he contemplates taking the stump in this State at an early day.—Illinois Journal.

Mollie Trussell, the woman who killed her paramour, George Trussell, in Chicago recently, attempted to commit suicide last week in the jail of that city. She tried to hang herself to one of the bars of the grating in th door of her cell. To the bar she tied her silk shawl, twisted into a cord, with running noose. Then standing on the chair, she fastened it around her neck, and deliberately threw herself off. A woman in an adjoining cell hearing the sobs and subsequent struggles of the would-be suicide, rung the alarm bell communicating with the turnkey's apartment. The turnkey immediately made his appearance, and the woman imparting her fears that the inmate of the next cell was hanging herself, he unlocked the door and found the woman hanging as we have described, and unconscious. The turnkey rescued her from her perilous position, and sent immediately for a physician, who administered the customary

ABOUT Dogs .- Few persons are aware of the value and variety of dogs, varying as they do in weight from one hundred and eighty pounds to less than one pound, and in value from about five hundred dollars to less than nothing. A description of the different varieties may not be uninteresting. The Siberian bloodhound weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds, and measures forty inches in girth, and is worth nearly five hundred dollars. The St. Bernard dog, which is of a buff or light led color, is very large and valuable. The Newfoundland dog, when pure, is entirely black, and its pups are worth from ten to twenty dollars. The shepherd dog, or Scotch colly, is wonderful for its patience, fidelity, and bravery. It is worth from $50 to $100. The English mastiff, a good watch dog, is worth from $15 to $25. Of terriers, the black and tan is most admired. It varies in weight from one pound to twenty-five pounds, and increases in value as it decreases n weight. A member of the bar in this city has one which weighs less than a pound, and is the smallest we have ever seen. It could not be bought for $150. Terriers are often crossed with the Italian greyhound, producing a very delicate but extremely useless dog. The Scotch terrier is the hardiest of dogs, is very courageous, and is worth from $10 to $30. The Scotch deerhound is the rarest and most valuable of hunting dogs. They are very rare, and are owned principally by the nobility of England. They are worth $100 each. The beagle is the smallest of the hound kind, of superior scent and endurance, and is the best sort of a rabbit hunter. English greyhounds, the fleetest of dogs, are worth from $25 to $100 each. The Italian greyhound is merely a parlor dog. The pure breed is rare and valuable, a fine one being worth $150. There is a great variety of pointers, setters, and spaniels. The Prince Charles variety is the most valuable of spa niels. He is supposed to have originated in Japan, where a similar breed exists. He has a round head, short nose, long, curly ears, large full eyes, black and tan color, and never weighs over ten pouuds. They have been sold in England at auction, and have brought as high as $2,600 each. The coach dog is from Denmark, and is not of much value, Some Arctic sled dogs and Esquimaux dogs were brought here by Dr. Kane. One was kept for a long while at the United States hospital at West Philadelphia. They are fox-like in shape, remarkable for activity and vigilance, and have an acuter sense of hear ing than any other dog. Most of the dogss about our streets are spuprious, and not even half breeds.—Philadelphia Press,

A BULL AT SEA .- The Portland Transcript has a notice of a two year old bull picked up at sea. The animal was found swimming in the water, in a nearly exhausted state, about three miles off Chebeague Island, from which he had probably set out on his aquatic excursion. Whether he was bound on a visit to his cousin John Bull, over sea, our informant did not stop to inquire; but taking the truant in tow, and occasionally assisting him in holding up his head, brought him safe to little Chebeague, where he is now quite recovered from his natatory exercise. It isn't every day that "beef on the hoof," is picked up in the sea, but when whales come ashore to see the sights, why should'nt bulls go on a voyage of discovery?

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument to appropriately stamp it, renders him liament to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, petition, &c., in which case these, as the original process severally require stamps original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scira facias are subject to stamp duty

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instru-ment is liable under the law, may be affixed and carealled by each of the parties. cancelled by one of the parties.
In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate on interest conveyed. No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a hond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgement of he instrument which is not stamped.
